Abat Oliba CEU University – THE FACTS

Abat Oliba CEU University understands itself as Barcelona in a nutshell, a place of traditions with a meaningful past, and of innovation and development.

As a cosmopolitan university Abat Oliba CEU University fosters and counts on internationalisation. We have strong relationships with universities from four different continents and international projects all over the world. We also host an important amount of international students which have turned our campus into an international community where one in ten students come from a foreign country. And we have started to implement intercultural exchange into nearly all our BA degrees and classrooms.

An important and constantly growing aspect of Abat Oliba CEU University is research. In fact, Abat Oliba CEU University holds grants for research projects in Law, Economy, Psychology and Education and is a private university with a UNESCO CHAIR. We are constantly looking for new opportunities in research, both, in the academic field and within the wide landscape of professional partners outside of the academic spectrum.

With our training, we follow the philosophy Think and Create. This means that students are demanded to apply their knowledge in practical experiences within the university and within the growing and vibrant market in Barcelona area. It also means that we understand that creation and innovation need research and theory as the pillars upon which they can be built.
